BOUNTIFUL GERANIUMS - Swannee Rice has been producing bountiful Geraniums for many, many years. They are displayed on her beautifully decorated front porch in concrete urns made by her grandfather A.O. Caruthers.

Geraniums add color to Rice's front porch

Charlotte Smith Editor

When you pull into the driveway of the Swan Burrus Family Farm you are greeted by a breathtaking array of matured trees that provide a welcome shade during the smoltering summer afternoons. Swannee Rice, soon to be 88, has lived on the family farm in her own home since 1952.

She married the love of her life, Harold Rice, Jr., five years before in 1947. Besides her husband and her family, Swannee's next love seems to be her flowers. "I love to dig in the ground," she said. "I don't do it as much as I use to, but I still get out and do it while I still can." Swannee will celebrate her 88th birthday on July 1. She keeps busy planting Geraniums that reside on her beautiful front porch. Those Geraniums could possibly be the envy of many a gardener.

Three concrete urns, crafted by her grandfather, A.O. Caruthers, were given to Swannee by "Mawnaw" (Harold's greatgrandmother) soon after Swannee and Harold moved into their house. Swannee then spent countless hours turning the house into a home while Harold was a soldier and a farmer.

Hal, one of Swannee's two sons, travels to Dresden, Tenn., every year to a "hothouse" to purchase Geranium plants for her. "They are always red," she said. "I plant three in each urn with a spike that I place in the center." Now in mid-May these three urns, painted white, are full of big, vibrant red flowers that compliment the Rice home, white with black shutters. The front porch, which beckons one to sit a spell, is also filled with a variety of chairs in white, red and black, adding to the ambiance. You can almost visualize Swannee sitting on this very porch entertaining her son, Dan and her daughter-in-law Beth and many others over the last six decades.

As you walk up the steps you easily spot two of the urns positioned on the right side of the porch, with the third on the left. "Those two on the right produce the bigger plants," said Swannee. "Geraniums flourish

Advisory board assists electric co-op

"Our board's philosophy as a non-profit electric cooperative is to provide the highest level of customer service and continue to improve system reliability," stated Greg Grissom, President of Hickman-Fulton Counties RECC. HFRECC's 2014 Spring Advisory Board Meeting was held at the Co-Op's Boone Street location in Hickman on Thursday evening, May 22. The purpose of the Advisory Board is to assist consumer members in obtaining full understanding of the purpose and achievements of the consumer-owned cooperative, thereby meriting their support and to draw from these consumer-members their ideas and feelings on past, present, or future policies for Hickman-Fulton Counties RECC, thereby meriting their support. Approximately fifty-one cooperative members and employees were in attendance. Topics of discussion included the financial health of the cooperative, the upcoming annual meeting (Tuesday, June 24) and the cooperative's involvement in programs such as the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association's International Foundation and the Change for the Community, Inc., which HFRECC helped establish in 2013.

25 Years Ago September 7, 1989 Obituary: Castell Giles, 80.

A 37-year-old Hickman woman was arrested and charged with two counts during the past week after she was found inside a house in West Hickman, according to a report by the Hickman Police Department. Vickie Ann Roberson of Jackson Street, was arrested shortly after 11:00 o'clock Wednesday night and charged with alcohol intoxication and burglary. Chief of Police Dean Parnell said that around 11:05 p.m. he received a call and the caller reported that a female was going through a window at a residence at 904 Ashland Street. When the police arrived at the scene they found Roberson inside the house. Entry into the house had been through a front window on the south side of the house where a storm window was pushed out and a window raised. The house is the residence of Paul Graves and the report stated that Graves was not at home when the house was entered. Sheriff Nelson D. "Corky" Hill assisted the local police in the investigation.

Letter to the Editor

National Cancer Survivor Day is June 1

To the Editor,

According to the American Society, Cancer 25,770 36,570 Kentuckians and Tennesseans are expected to be diagnosed with some form of cancer this year. That number marks an increase over 2013's figure of 25,100 for Kentucky and a slight dip for Tennessee. But even with these figures of new cases, more and more people are surviving cancer. Today, two out of three people are living longer after a cancer diagnosis, but we want to get that to THREE out of three.

Fulton County and the South Fulton area will soon hold its annual Relay For Life event on June 6. Relay supports the work of the American Cancer Society to fund cancer research into better ways to detect, treat and prevent cancers. The money raised also helps educate people on the importance of cancer screenings and prevention tips like quitting smoking, eating healthier and exercising. It also provides support for cancer patients and caregivers, such as through Hope Lodge facilities which can serve as a "home away from home" for patients undergoing treatment in Nashville or Memphis.

Before Relay, though, National Cancer Survivor Day will be held Sunday, June 1. On this day, the American Cancer Society would like to ask congregations across Fulton County and into South

Dave Says...

Dear Dave,

My wife and I are debt-free except for our house, and she would like for us to go ahead and start a family. I make good money, but I'd still like to wait a little longer and add some extra to our emergency fund before taking that step. Who do you think is right in this situation?

Dear Joel,

Assuming, of course, you're talking about a reasonable number of children, the old adage is true: if you wait until you think you can afford them, you'll never have them. You guys have been responsible and are in pretty good financial shape right now. So my thought is have babies if you want babies. Even if your wife told you that she's pregnant tomorrow you'd still have nine months to add on to your emergency fund.

Your financial situation tells me vou're both responsible people. You'll be a good provider, and it sound like you'd both make great parents. And the fact is babies are not that expensive. Having kids won't break your back like lots of people say. You've got extra by Dave Ramsey expenses like diapers and baby stuff the first few years, but it's not going to drive you to the poor house. Now, if you go to the extreme and have 16 kids, that many baby birds could become quite a financial problem. But for a normal-sized family with a normal-sized income, children do not create a big financial issue. God bless you guys, Joel! —Dave

I'm finishing my last semester in college, and I've already landed my first real job making $33,000 a year. I'm working on a budget, but I have $15,000 in student loans. This is my only debt, and my parents said I could live at home for a year until I get on my feet, so can I put some fun money into my budget?

Dear Dave,

Jonathan Dear Jonathan,

You can, but my advice would be to make it a really small amount until you repay those student loans. The real question is how long you want that debt hanging over your head.

I'm the kind of guy who likes to rip the bandage off. Even if

MEMORIAL DAY TRIBUTE

by Richard Cartwright "The British are coming, The British are coming," that's what I heard Paul Revere

That's when I knew it was my country calling, and it was my duty, to go help her out!! Then in 1812, we were at it again, it was Us and the British, and we wanted to win, I didn't know, what this was about, but my country was calling, and I'd help her out!

The Civil War was started in 1861, beginning when Fort Sumter, fired Formed the Confederacy as 11 states seceded, & I knew my services were needed!

The Spanish-American war was in 1898, and the "rough riders"

Asking for my help, my patience was thin, my country was calling, so I helped again!

Then in 1917 came World War One, the war to end all wars, when our job was done!

I wondered will these wars ever end?, still my country called, and I responded again!

On 12-7-1941 America was broken-hearted, Pearl Harbor bombed,

Patriotism was high as we battled back then, and my country was calling me again!

In June 1950, the North invaded S. Korea, it became our duty, to do our best to free her,

The Korean War had South K. falling, and I left again, because it was my country calling!

The Viet Nam War was '59 to '75, and many of my friends, would not leave there alive! Treatment of prisoners, left me appalled, & I went to Nam, because my country called!

We had the Persian Gulf & Desert Storm, both meant to divide, & cause our country harm, Afghanistan & Iraq thought we'd be crawling, I went to both, again my country was calling!

Well I'm not the ghost, of the battles past, I was at the first war, and I will be at the last,

I'm the conscious of you all, & I feel your pain, & your loved ones, have never died in vain!

They've kept us free, to live & love, & pray, so thank them for protecting us, each & every day! They're the home of the brave, the land of the free, because of them we're in the "land of liberty!"

Over 200 yrs, & our country will not fall we've been pushed to the limit, but we're still standing tall! Still speaking English & brother that's not all, we're ready, willing & able, to heed our country's call!

Summer offers fun and risk at the same time

By Melissa Patrick Kentucky Health News

One of the best parts of summer is splashing in a pool, playing in the backyard sprinkler or swimming in a lake or stream, but recreational water activity always comes with a risk of drowning.

It's important not to lose sight of this risk as you strive to keep your children and adolescents safe, writes Susan Pollack, director of the Pediatric and Adolescent Injury Prevention Program at the Kentucky Injury Prevention and Research Center at the University of Kentucky.

"Every year in Kentucky, an average of 14 children die by drowning. About half the drowning deaths occur among children ages 1 to 4," Pollack writes in the Lexington Herald-Leader. "From 2009-11, 80 percent of childhood drowning deaths occurred at the child's residence or someone else's home. A quarter of drowning deaths occurred among adolescents, mostly while swimming,

How Sleep Apnea affects senior citizens

Sleep Apnea is a medical disorder that causes people to stop breathing frequently while they are sleeping. The presence and severity of sleep apnea are directly associated with a significantly increased risk of sudden cardiac death. This disorder affects about 12 million American adults. Many more have this disorder but have not yet been diagnosed. The diagnosis can be determined by undergoing a sleep study. Sleep Apnea will sometimes cause a person to stop breathing for at least 10 seconds and more than five times per hour while asleep.

Many senior citizens will experience changes in their health. These changes can cause them to suffer from Sleep Apnea and other sleep disorders. Senior adults often have more trouble with sleep disorders than younger age groups. Sleep disorders such as Sleep Apnea in seniors are often caused by bodily problems that come from aging such as weight gain and mobility problems. This causes sleep disruption.

As people age, the muscle tone weakens, which puts the seniors at a higher risk of developing Sleep

Apnea than the younger generation. The weakening of the muscle tone includes muscles in the upper neck and head that helps keep your airways open. The muscles will relax as one falls asleep, this obstruction results in Sleep Apnea. Senior populations have an extremely high risk of developing Sleep Apnea, especially if they are overweight.

Excess weight can also be a problem because many seniors are not getting enough exercise to allow them to stay fit. Excess weight can cause people to snore especially if the weight is around the throat area. It can cause breathing obstructions when lying down.

Untreated symptoms of Sleep Apnea are: High Blood Pressure, Heart Failure, Stroke, Diabetes, and Depression.

Sleep Apnea symptoms are: Waking up frequently throughout the night; Snoring loudly; Waking up choking or gasping for air; Having a sore throat in the mornings; and Forgetfulness.

The average person should get seven to nine hours of uninterrupted sleep every night.

Obituaries

Mr. Walter Ward

Union City, Tenn., died May 21, 2014 the Golden Living Center in Union City. Born February 10, 1920, he was the son of the late Ima (Matthews) and William Artell Ward. He was a 16-year-old high school student when he attended the St. Louis Cardinal tryout camp at Union City's Turner Field in 1936. He signed with the Cardinals in 1937 and was sent to Monette, Mo. He then played for Union City Greyhounds in 1938 and signed with the Cincinnati Reds. He played minor league ball until he was inducted into the Army for WWII. The war cost him his best years. He played briefly for the Greyhounds again in 1946 before beginning a successful business career.

He was a member of the First United Methodist Church in Hickman, Ky., where he was in the choir and was a veteran of the U.S. Army Air Corps, where he served in World War II. He had been a salesman for Mills Morris Distributor in Memphis, Tenn., and was also the owner of Ward TV and Music Store in Union City.

Two sons Ronald L. Ward and Robert Ward, a brother, and a sister, preceded him in death.

Funeral services were held May 24 at the First United Methodist Church in Hickman. Burial followed in the Cayce Hornbeak Funeral Home of Fulton was in charge of arrangements.

Memorials may be made to the First United Methodist Church-Hickman, 105 Wellington Street, Hickman, KY 42050 or Mount Carmel Baptist Church, 6878 State Route 94 E, Fulton, KY 42041.

boating or fishing on lakes and Prevention requires constant supervision of toddlers and children around all types of water. This not only includes the obvious such as pools, swift-flowing creeks and large bodies of water, but also bath-tubs, car-washing buckets and ornamental ponds, Pollack says. Toddlers can fall in and drown even in just a few inches of standing water in a bucket. It is also important to empty baby pools immediately after use.

Drowning can happen "swiftly and silently," Pollack writes. This requires a responsible adult to supervise children at all times, even if lifeguards are present. And if a child can't swim, this adult should be within arms-reach. Supervision is needed even if the child is wearing an appropriately sized Coast Guard-approved life vest. Floaties and water-wings are not sufficient life-saving devices.

It is also important to create barriers to water sources. This can be accomplished by putting a four-sided, 4-foot-high fence with a self-closing gate around backyard pools or removing the ladder from above-ground pools that are not fenced.

While teaching children to swim does not replace supervision, it is an important life-saving skill children should learn, Pollack writes. The YMCA, Red Cross and university swim programs all offer lessons.

Adolescents should be reminded to never swim without a buddy and that alcohol and boating never mix, Pollack says. They should also be reminded of the dangers of swimming while fatigued and the importance of wearing a U.S. Coast Guard-approved life jacket when boat-it's going to hurt a little bit, I'd rather just do it quick and have it done. With the numbers you gave me, and the fact that you'd be living at home for a while, you'd be able to plow through this student loan debt in a hurry. After that, you'd be in an awesome financial position. My advice is to keep living like a college student. Save every penny, and have no life for just a little while longer. Trust me, the feeling will be amazing when you start life on your own with a good job and no debt. That's the time to have some fun! —Dave

High-speed chase begins in Hickman, ends with crash in Union City

By Kevin Bowden and Chris Menees, Union City Messenger

Staff Reporters, May 20th edition Three suspects face multiple charges in two states after a high-speed pursuit that began in Hickman, Ky ended with a crash in Union City, Tenn.

The incident began between 10 and 10:30 p.m. Friday, May 16, in Hickman, where an officer stopped a vehicle after it allegedly sped by him, according to Hickman Police Chief Tony

The green 1997 Toyota Corolla was occupied by three men, authorities said.

The Hickman officer stopped the vehicle in the area of Hickman Manor Apartments on the Union City Highway, where one of the passengers got out and ran, allegedly throwing some-thing down while the officer gave chase on foot.

As the car was starting to leave, the officer was nearly hit as he tried to stop the vehicle from leaving the area. The driver apparently picked up the passenger who fled and the vehicle continued to flee toward the state line and the Union City area, according to Hickman po-

Chief Deputy Kent Treece of the Obion County Sheriff's Department said the vehicle traveled south from Kentucky into Obion County, through Woodland Mills and into Union City.

The local sheriff's department was dispatched about 10:30 p.m. to assist in the pursuit on Highway 5 (the Hickman Highway). An attempt by sheriff's deputies to stop the vehicle in the vicinity of Abernathy's motorcycle dealership on West Main Street was unsuccessful and the car allegedly ran the red light at Everett Boulevard, crossing all four lanes of traffic and coming within inches of being hit by a northbound semi-truck, according to Treece.

Grogan told The Messenger the fleeing vehicle also caused a couple of cars to run off the roadway during the incident.

The vehicle continued down West Main Street in Union City and veered off the roadway at the S-curve intersection with South Fifth Street before the driver ultimately lost control of the vehicle and struck a utility

The driver of the car was identified as 40-year-old Lamanis E. Owens of Humboldt, Tenn. He is currently being held in the Obion County Law Enforcement Complex and is facing multiple charges, including driving on a suspended driver's license, possession of a Schedule II controlled substance with intent to resell (crack cocaine), reckless endangerment, felony evading arrest, two counts of aggravated assault and possession of a Schedule II substance (hydrocodone).

His two passengers were identified as 18-year-old Keylon J. David Hyde and 49-yearold R.B. Walker, both of Union Treece said Owens, Hyde, and Walker were all transported to various hospitals, treated and released.

The incident remains under investigation as local authorities are working with Kentucky

Grogan said Kentucky will have warrants on the three men for multiple charges, including wanton endangerment, fleeing and evading, trafficking in cocaine and multiple traffic violations. As of Tuesday, May 27, the warrants had been requested but were still in the process of being issued.

Falcons rally to beat Pilots

Having lost to the Hickman County Falcons three times this season, the Fulton County Pilots were hoping to break the streak in the opening round of the First District Tournament.

And for a while it looked as if it was going to happen.

The Pilots came into the opening round game with numbers against them, having only nine players on the bench.

Åfter the Falcons took a 1-0 lead in the first inning, the Pilots mounted a big offensive effort in the third inning, taking a 4-1 advantage.

Matthew Bodon, Ryne Choate, Devontae Hampton and Cameron Jones all crossed the plate, with two runners stranded on base as the inning ended.

In the bottom half of the frame, the Falcons countered with three hits, and a hit batter, to score four runs and a 5-4

The Pilots attempt to tie the game in the fourth inning was thwarted on a controversial call at home plate, which came when outfielder Cameron Jones was called out, following Choate's apparent base hit toward third

The play ended the inning, with two Fulton County runners still on base, and the Hickman County lead.

The Falcons then took momentum of the tournament game by scoring two runs in the fourth and seven in the fifth to end the Fulton County season.

On the night for the Pilots, Matthew Bodon was 1-for-2, Ryne Choate 1-for-1, Jarett West 1-for-3, Dylan Eakes 1-for-3 and Cameron Jones 1-for-1.

National Trails Day is June 7

GOLDEN POND, KY - In celebration of the 22nd Annual National Trails Day on Saturday, June 7, Land Between The Lakes National Recreation Area invites the public to help with trail maintenance on Hillman Heritage National Recreation Trail. Volunteers will meet at Hillman Ferry Campground gatehouse at 9am for a tailgate safety briefing. Volunteers will need to bring lunch, drinking water, and wear appropriate clothing, i.e., long pants, hiking boots, etc. The Forest Service will provide all tools and equipment, as well as gloves, tick spray, and safety glasses.

For more information about volunteering or National Trails Day, contact Emily Cleaver at 800-455-5897 or 270-924-2007 or email lblinfo@fs.fed.us.

In addition, to help celebrate National Trails Day, Nature Station staff will lead a walk on Long Creek Trail at 11am. This paved _ mile trail is accessible to disabled persons. Nature Station staff will introduce visitors to the many ecosystems along the trail and within Woodlands Nature Watch Area.

"Trails provide a great way to enjoy America's Great Outdoors," commented Kyle Varel, Assistant Trails Manager. "At Land Between The Lakes we offer hundreds of miles of scenic trails for hikers, bikers, and riders."

"The Friends of Land Between The Lakes has developed a fundraiser for our trails," said Emily Cleaver, Volunteer Coordinator. "Trail bracelets will be available for purchase at the Hillman Ferry Outpost, as well as all day-use facilities in Land Between The Lakes. These bracelets are made from parachute cord, cost $10, and proceeds support trail maintenance and enhancement projects.'

The Forest Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, manages Land Between The Lakes National Recreation Area in partnership with Friends of Land Between The Lakes in Western Kentucky and Tennessee. The National Recreation Area provides environmental education, outdoor recreation, lake access, and land management for the public to enjoy. Visitors are encouraged to review the official website at www.lbl.org or call 800-LBL-7077 or 270-924-2000 for event listings, updates on programs and policies, safety information, maps, temporary trail and road closures, and more. OutsideIN is changing the world one t-shirt at a time

By Christina Corrigan The (WMU) Women's Missionary Union annual meeting at East Hickman Baptist Church welcomed a visitor. LeEllen Smith addressed the women of East Hickman on Tuesday evening, May 20 bringing them information about OutsideIN. OutsideIN is a local facility based in Troy, Tenn., and Smith is the founder of this organization. She began her business, transforming t-shirts into new garments, in an out-building located behind her home. In March 2013, she moved into a storefront on the square in Troy because a workshop environment was no longer fitting into her business scheme. She now needed a place where she could work and also allow patrons to come and shop. Smith shared with the women of East Hickman Baptist that God revealed to her the idea to make clothing out of t-shirts when she was a mere 12-years-old.

OutsideIN transforms more than just t-shirts, it also provides a place for women who are recovering from illnesses such as alcoholism a place to work. "We have worked with five different women and right now have three part-time employees," stated Smith. "Unpaid volunteers work alongside them to teach good workplace attitudes and behaviors."

While building the confidence of these ladies, the ladies are molding t-shirts into new items of clothing such as skirts, tops, dresses, and accessories for girls and women.

Each time an article of clothing is purchased OutsideIN and what it stands for is shared with others. Bless Dress with Kerin's Kids, a ministry dedicated to neglected and sick children in Zambria, Africa, are recipients of the clothing made by the workers at OutsideIN. "We provide our customers with a special combination of fun fashions

Drag Boat Races excite at LBL

The Kentucky Drag Boat Association will host drag boat races at Land Between The Lakes National Recreation Area in Pisgah Bay on Kentucky Lake June 7-8, July 5-6, and August 2-3, from 10am to 5pm. Time trials will be held on Saturday and final races will take place on Sunday. There is a spectator fee of $5 per person; children under 12 are free. Bring lawn chairs or ground blankets for watching the races. Campsites 24-29 and the boat ramp at Birmingham Ferry will be closed the Friday before each set of races and remain closed for the weekend.

The drag boat races feature blown-alcohol boats, hydros and jet-powered boats, and flat-bottom racers skimming the water at speeds exceeding 150 mph. For more information contact the Kentucky Drag Boat Association at 800-732-0088 or visit www.kdba.net.

"The Kentucky Drag Boat Association summer races provide heart-pounding fun," said Gary Hawkins, Recreation Program Specialist at Land Between The Lakes. "It is a great event for spectators and racers. These races add an exciting, high speed element to all the other great outdoor recreation events around the region.'

Sports In Kentucky By Bob Watkins

Lists. We love 'em.

With Indianapolis 500 in the rear view mirror, the Kentucky-Indiana basketball all-star game at Transy is a month away and eight weeks until Baseball's all-star break, few things are as attention-getting and intriguing in sports than a list. A juicy one, don't you think?

A list that make fans curious, furious or laughing out loud and bellowing "c'mon, man! Get serious!" is a symphony to magazine salesmen.

Business Week has its 100 most powerful people in sports. Forbes Magazine publishes Forbes 400 wealthiest people in America. ... Time Magazine' 100 most influential people in the world.

But Sports Illustrated's list last week became all the rage: The Most Disliked People in 35 names. 35? What a pansy. To choose 35 bad boys in sports is like Dick Vitale describing a diaper dandy with no arm flail and no grrreat(s).

I suspect SI editors chose a modest number because it leaves readers time to laugh, then bark gimme a break, man!"then threaten to cancel a subscription or, best of all, counter with his/ her own list.

The savvy among us know any list of people in sports we love to hate must be triple digits. this is no pamphlet.

I would ask SI, where was Steve Spurrier? Johnny Manziel? New York radio talker Mike Francesca? What Dislike list could be legitimate without Donald Sterling's girlfriend, at least one NBA trash talker, Harvey Updike (tree killer at Auburn), Billy Clyde Gillespie, A.J. Pierzynski, Michigan's Fab Five, or Bill Walton? And, how about a jab-or-two for old lightning rod standards Bob Knight and Billy Packer?

Instead, SI gave us Munster Donald Sterling at the top, followed by a bunch of usual suspects, rich team owners and commissioners, NFL, NHL and NCAA, to go with whoever is coaching Alabama's football team, and one woman. One woman.

SI editors would have us believe in all sports Rutgers director of athletics Julie Hermann is the only uh, witch? I think this is capitulation to, "Hell hath no fury like a woman scorned."

Pansies.

More singles on SI's list? One Tiger (Woods), a sports writer (Skip Bayless), a bully (Richie Incognito) and, from across the world of basketball literally, one college basketball coach. John Calipari.

Kentucky's coach made the D-List with this capsule. "... wins and recruits wherever he goes. He has also left a trail of NČAA violations in his wake at UMass and Memphis. His position at the forefront of college basketball's One-and-Done era of recruiting have made him reviled among hoops traditionalists."

Reaction? Calipari said via twitter: "Heard I made the SI Not So Liked List w/Saban, Belichick & one spot below

Tiger. What's that tell me? I probably shouldn't run for

Here in Kentucky what it tells √ Calipari can spin Saban, Belichick and the like, but his name is on a list with confessed lying cheats Lance Armstrong, Alex Rodriquez and Ryan Braun.

 $\sqrt{\text{Not-so-liked (says he)}}$ and reviled (says SI) are not the $\sqrt{}$ And, we're probably no Christmas card from Cal to the guys at Sports Illustrated this year. And, no exclusive interviews either.

So, The List. Good fun. Good talking points at the coffee shop.

Think I'll make one too. Call it, Best Talkers in Sports.

$ANITY AT UK

University of Kentucky President Eli Capilouto earned high marks for fiscal sanity last week when he rendered a thumbs down to spending millions on the Rupp Arena renovation.

The Lexington Center Board tried to spin public opinion and put pressure on Capilouto, telling media a no-go to the $351 million renovation and convention center would cost Lexington millions of dollars.

"At this time, there is not sufficient public support for committing over $350 million in state, city and other funds to a basketball arena and convention center when there are so many well-recognized educational, economic, retirement and health care needs across Lexington and the Commonwealth of Kentucky," Capilouto wrote.

COLLEGE SOFTBALL

University of Kentucky softball team (49-17) upset No. 3 UCLA 7-1 in game three of the NCAA Los Angeles Super Regional at the weekend. The Lady Wildcats became UK's first ever qualified for the Women's College Softball World Series.

Coach Rachel Lawson: "this is our third Super Regional, so we've been close enough to taste it, but for it to actually be a reality is very special. For it to happen on such a storied softball field, where college softball was pretty much invented, it feels pretty good that we're advancing to Oklahoma City.'

grant application in 2013 and participation in TVA's Business Incentive Program, HFRECC was awarded $360,755.00 to install high output energy efficiency outdoor lights to replace aged equipment across the electric distribution system. The result was immediate savings for their customers and surplus equipment that was retired was used to electrify Guatemalan villages through NRECA foundation fund. The NRECA International Foundation is the charitable arm of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association and helps bring electricity and its inherent benefits to the people of rural areas in developing countries. The Foundation delivers electricity to developing countries by coordinating and supporting co-op employees throughout the United States. When the recipients of the Foundation's gifts have access to reliable electricity, families in developing countries become healthier, more productive and more self-reliant. In 2010, HFRECC donated twelve reclosers to the Foundation and in 2011 they donated four 3 phase regulators. "We (HFRECC) would also be interested in supporting any of our lineman who would like to take the International Foundation effort a step further by traveling to places like Guatemala to train employees," added Grissom.

It has been said that a little goes a long way. This is true when it comes to those few cents, dimes or quarters that one might have in their pocket at the end of the day.

"Change for the Community" an organization affiliated with HFRECC is taking that concept a step further by rounding up their members electric bills. For example, if your monthly bill is $48.52, HFRECC rounds it up to $49. That extra $.48 cents is deposited into a separate account. HFRECC began this endeavor just six short months ago and now has over $10,000 in have them contact us to receive the "Change for the Community" account. "We estimated we would collect about $20,000 in our first year and we are well on our way," stated Debbie Weatherford, employee of HFRECC and a non-voting member of the "Change for the Community" committee. Other non-voting members include Terry Polivick and Vercel Bryant. Voting members include Carol Howell, President, Ruth Ann Graham, Vice-President, Phyllis Bryant, Secretary, Karla Adams, and Deena Anderson. The committee will begin taking applications this week from various 501 3c organizations. Applications will be taken until June 30, 2014 for the first distribution of funds. After June 30, the committee will meet and will distribute these funds throughout the donating counties. "We will be asking for applications from organizations such as the Rescue Squad, Senior Citizens, Habitat for Humanity, Rotary Scholarship Programs and other non-profit entities that fund worthwhile activities within our member serving counties," explained Weatherford. "We are looking for ways to make positive changes in the community, one 'penny' at a time and our members have been very responsive to the program. If you know of a 501 3C organization that could benefit from these funds, we encourage you to an application."

Cooperative Attorney Rick Major then took the floor and opened the Nominating Committee Meeting. The Nominating Committee named David Gallagher as chairman. Mr. Gallagher then accepted nominations for members to run for Directors at this year's Annual Meeting. Those nominated included Jerry Graham, District 3, upon motion by Glen Howell and seconded bu David Lusk and Vercel Bryant, District 5, upon motion by David Weatherly, and seconded by Chad Parker. Both motions passed unanimously.

Before closing, Grissom en-couraged all advisory board members present to inform other HFRECC members that HFRECC is seeking additional members for the Advisory Board. "The more we have, the better," he said.

Swannee Rice and her beautiful Geraniums.

in the bright sunshine."

With the size of these Geraniums one might think that there is something special that Ms. Swannee adds to the soil, but when asked what her secret was she smiled and said, "Barn yard fertilizer is my secret."

Shhhhh....don't tell anyone, but her barn yard fertilizer is plain old cow manure that she, herself, still goes and retrieves from the family barnyard, just a stone's throw away from her inviting front porch.

Others who love to spend time on Swannee's front porch viewing not only the Geraniums but also her Azaleas, Hostas, Impatients and more include her grandchildren, Will, Sara Kate, and Avery and great-grandchild Thaxton.

As we watched the tree limbs blow around in the late spring breeze, Swannee was excited to announce that she is expecting a second great-grandchild later this summer.

One of the trees, which now has limbs spawning far and wide, was planted by Swannee and Harold when their sons were young boys. "I remember we planted it as they were getting off the school bus," she said. "The bus picked them up from the end of the road."

Swannee, who attended Sylvan Shade School remembers riding a pony to school. "We didn't have paved roads back then," she said. "Sometimes we had to ride through the mud."

Another tree, located on the other side of the house, was planted by Swannee's mother, Mary Burrus. "When my mother was a young girl she planted that tree," as she said it you could almost see memories of a time long ago travel through Swannee's memory.

Mary Burrus grew up on the family farmland where Swannee still lives. "She was born on this very farm in 1886," said Swannee proudly. "Where our garage now sits is where my mother's house use to be. Sadly it burned to the ground and they lost everything.

One thing that definitely wasn't lost was the love for family and gardening that Swannee's mother definitely passed on down to her. She might not plant as many flowers as she did 25 years ago, but the ones she does plant and tend to are worth taking a peak at from time to time.

HFRECC Loses Sight Says Croc (Changing Results of Cooperative)

The Co-op was born on the backs of hard working people to bring electricity into our area, as members joined the Co-op and shared the cost, I'm sure there were a few members working hard to bring convenience to many. Now there are many hard working Co-op members to convenience a few.

I, Mr. Harrison, Mr. Lane and the CROC are asking you to help us change this. Petitions with Mr. Harrison and Mr. Lane to be nominees for Board of Directors to be placed on a ballet were handed to Mr. Grissom on Friday, May 23, 2014. The HFRECC Advisory Board members met to nominate District 3 and District 5 nominees, which have been on Board too long with stagnant results on Thursday, May 22, 2014. Mr. Jackson said while out collecting petitions he ran across one advisory board member that wasn't aware of Mr. Grissom's raise of $8,646.00 in August 2013 and board of directors giving them a raise to $235.00 as a standard meeting fee. These amounts are found in the August 2013 minutes of HFRECC.

One of our main concerns is that our rates are highest in all west Kentucky and Tennessee. People of Co-op, both young and old, are struggling with electrical bills from winter and now as summer is upon us we can expect nothing different. With people struggling the board of directors gave over $43,000.00 at HFRECC in bonus and salary increases in 2013, with over one-fifth going to CEO Grissom.

Mr. Jackson says there are many more concerns that will be expressed in the future. The committee is resolved to bring change to the Coop, and to lower our rates. The committee will be resilient in their efforts to replace Board members they believe are not doing enough to help the members of the Cooperative.

I am sorry I was not able to talk to many more of you who would have signed this petition but there was no problem getting signatures needed at this present time.

I would ask you to please call, text or email the committee of your concerns and join us in Changing the Results of Cooperative. Contact info forth coming.

Sincerely, Joe Jackson
